What do you believe is currently the biggest challenge at Christ Church? Why and how would you address it? The greatest challenge facing Christ Church is how, without losing sight of our rich heritage and traditions, do we stay relevant in our ever-changing world as we endeavor to spread the love and word of Jesus. Christ Church has a wonderful history and traditions that enrich our worship and our lives. However, in this quickly changing, technology driven world, it is imperative that we embrace new ideas and actions in order to meet God's children where they are today. Many years ago, at Kanuga, I saw a sign that said, "The seven last words of a dying church are ' We've never done it that way before.'" Now we are by no means a dying church, but we are called to continue to spread the Gospel. To do this effectively is a daunting task, but we are up to the challenge. It requires an openness to listen and willingness to adopt new ideas while never abandoning our core values and beliefs. It will take, love, creativity, and diligence to continually fulfill Jesus's call to "Feed my sheep."
