What do you believe is currently the biggest challenge at Christ Church? Why and how would you address it? I believe the biggest challenge is harnessing and embracing the rapid level of growth and change in the community and in turn the church, while honoring the church traditions and legacy of the many who have built the church, all while maintaining focus on financial stability and reinvestment. Robust programming, inviting and functional facilities and church grounds, and community outreach programs, are all vital to keep up with Greenville's growth and efforts to thrive as a church family.

To address this challenge, the church must maintain focus and dedication to the church's mission and purpose, with an intentional eye to be the church of today and tomorrow. The community embraces our church through education and awareness which starts with communication. I believe a renewed and refreshed focus on exposing our community to all the Christ Church does would drive involvement, education, and greater engagement for the church community. Through our incredible congregation, we should continue to recruit new church members and foster engaged parishioners to give of their time, talents, and gifts to ensure our church grows and invests in itself and the community. This is going to ensure our prosperity in the future, and we will continue to thrive.

Christ Church Activities Foundation Board Member and active Sunday School participant.
