

Church Street
Choral Academy
Greenville, SC

Announcing: The Church Street Choral Academy

This new organization was conceptualized during the pandemic as staff and leadership saw how many students in Greenville County were “being left behind” because academic programs and after school activities typically offered during a school year were postponed due to COVID. As Christ Church and Greenville emerged from the pandemic, the Church Street Choral Academy began to take shape.

Meeting twice per week after school, choristers will participate in a choir rehearsal, receive piano and voice lessons, tutoring, and homework support, and receive dinner both nights. Choristers will be eligible to earn money by regular attendance at rehearsals and performances and by progressing through theory and piano classes.

The inaugural choir will be made up of 3rd through 5th grade students but will expand as students age.

A program of this size and scope would usually come with a heavy price tag to participate. But, by being housed at Christ Church Episcopal and through generous community support, all costs associated with the Church Street Choral Academy have been covered and the program is free to participants. No chorister or their family will be asked for tuition or other fees.

“Often the students who would benefit the most from extra support or arts enrichment are the students whose families can’t afford the costly price tag associated with those activities. We don’t want money to get in the way for anybody. We’ve worked hard to eliminate this barrier to participation so that any interested student could join us, not just those who could afford it,” said Donald Duncan, Director of Liturgy & Music at Christ Church and CSCA Choirmaster.

Spaces in the first year’s program are limited to 30 choristers, so interested parties are encouraged to contact Mr. Duncan as soon as possible to schedule an audition. Potential choristers do not need to participate in their school, church, or other choir or have any musical training; but they should possess a love of music and a commitment to attendance.

“We will teach children to sing, no doubt, but that may be the least important thing this organization does,” said Duncan. “This program is unlike anything in Greenville and will have a tremendous impact on kids and families in this city.”

For more information, visit www.choralacademy.org.

Church Street
Choral Academy
Greenville, SC

Announcing: The Church Street Choral Academy

This new organization was conceptualized during the pandemic as staff and leadership saw how many students in Greenville County were “being left behind” because academic programs and after school activities typically offered during a school year were postponed due to COVID. As Christ Church and Greenville emerged from the pandemic, the Church Street Choral Academy began to take shape.

Meeting twice per week after school, choristers will participate in a choir rehearsal, receive piano and voice lessons, tutoring, and homework support, and receive dinner both nights. Choristers will be eligible to earn money by regular attendance at rehearsals and performances and by progressing through theory and piano classes.

The inaugural choir will be made up of 3rd through 5th grade students but will expand as students age.

A program of this size and scope would usually come with a heavy price tag to participate. But, by being housed at Christ Church Episcopal and through generous community support, all costs associated with the Church Street Choral Academy have been covered and the program is free to participants. No chorister or their family will be asked for tuition or other fees.

“Often the students who would benefit the most from extra support or arts enrichment are the students whose families can’t afford the costly price tag associated with those activities. We don’t want money to get in the way for anybody. We’ve worked hard to eliminate this barrier to participation so that any interested student could join us, not just those who could afford it,” said Donald Duncan, Director of Liturgy & Music at Christ Church and CSCA Choirmaster.

Spaces in the first year’s program are limited to 30 choristers, so interested parties are encouraged to contact Mr. Duncan as soon as possible to schedule an audition. Potential choristers do not need to participate in their school, church, or other choir or have any musical training; but they should possess a love of music and a commitment to attendance.

“We will teach children to sing, no doubt, but that may be the least important thing this organization does,” said Duncan. “This program is unlike anything in Greenville and will have a tremendous impact on kids and families in this city.”

For more information, visit www.choralacademy.org.

Church Street
Choral Academy
Greenville, SC

Announcing: The Church Street Choral Academy

This new organization was conceptualized during the pandemic as staff and leadership saw how many students in Greenville County were “being left behind” because academic programs and after school activities typically offered during a school year were postponed due to COVID. As Christ Church and Greenville emerged from the pandemic, the Church Street Choral Academy began to take shape.

Meeting twice per week after school, choristers will participate in a choir rehearsal, receive piano and voice lessons, tutoring, and homework support, and receive dinner both nights. Choristers will be eligible to earn money by regular attendance at rehearsals and performances and by progressing through theory and piano classes.

The inaugural choir will be made up of 3rd through 5th grade students but will expand as students age.

A program of this size and scope would usually come with a heavy price tag to participate. But, by being housed at Christ Church Episcopal and through generous community support, all costs associated with the Church Street Choral Academy have been covered and the program is free to participants. No chorister or their family will be asked for tuition or other fees.

“Often the students who would benefit the most from extra support or arts enrichment are the students whose families can’t afford the costly price tag associated with those activities. We don’t want money to get in the way for anybody. We’ve worked hard to eliminate this barrier to participation so that any interested student could join us, not just those who could afford it,” said Donald Duncan, Director of Liturgy & Music at Christ Church and CSCA Choirmaster.

Spaces in the first year’s program are limited to 30 choristers, so interested parties are encouraged to contact Mr. Duncan as soon as possible to schedule an audition. Potential choristers do not need to participate in their school, church, or other choir or have any musical training; but they should possess a love of music and a commitment to attendance.

“We will teach children to sing, no doubt, but that may be the least important thing this organization does,” said Duncan. “This program is unlike anything in Greenville and will have a tremendous impact on kids and families in this city.”

For more information, visit www.choralacademy.org.

More Information:

First Rehearsal Date:
October 16, 2023

How is the choir structured?

The Choristers will rehearse and sing as their own choir but will often gather with members from the Christ Church Parish Choir and other community choirs to sing.

What is the cost to participate in the CSCA?

There is no cost to participate. All costs are covered by donors to Christ Church Episcopal, fundraisers, and other income sources.

When are rehearsals?

Rehearsal days are Mondays and Wednesdays from 4:00 PM until 7:00 PM at Christ Church Episcopal in downtown Greenville. For more information, contact Sarah Marczynski at smarczynski@ccgsc.org.

How to be a part of this ministry:

Let us know you or your child is interested in CSCA:

Fill out our form (scan the QR code)

Volunteer:

You can serve as a mentor, provide homework help, drop off a snack, or help with some administrative tasks. Email Sarah Marczynski at smarczynski@ccgsc.org for more information or opportunities.

How else can I help?

Recommend a student to join us. Spaces in the first year’s program are limited to 30 choristers and we are currently open for auditions! Potential choristers do not need to participate in their school, church, or other choir or have any musical training; but they should possess a love of music and a commitment to attendance. Contact Donald Duncan at dduncan@ccgsc.org or 864.271.8773 for more information.

More Information:

First Rehearsal Date:
October 16, 2023

How is the choir structured?

The Choristers will rehearse and sing as their own choir but will often gather with members from the Christ Church Parish Choir and other community choirs to sing.

What is the cost to participate in the CSCA?

There is no cost to participate. All costs are covered by donors to Christ Church Episcopal, fundraisers, and other income sources.

When are rehearsals?

Rehearsal days are Mondays and Wednesdays from 4:00 PM until 7:00 PM at Christ Church Episcopal in downtown Greenville. For more information, contact Sarah Marczynski at smarczynski@ccgsc.org.

How to be a part of this ministry:

Let us know you or your child is interested in CSCA:

Fill out our form (scan the QR code)

Volunteer:

You can serve as a mentor, provide homework help, drop off a snack, or help with some administrative tasks. Email Sarah Marczynski at smarczynski@ccgsc.org for more information or opportunities.

How else can I help?

Recommend a student to join us. Spaces in the first year’s program are limited to 30 choristers and we are currently open for auditions! Potential choristers do not need to participate in their school, church, or other choir or have any musical training; but they should possess a love of music and a commitment to attendance. Contact Donald Duncan at dduncan@ccgsc.org or 864.271.8773 for more information.

More Information:

First Rehearsal Date:
October 16, 2023

How is the choir structured?

The Choristers will rehearse and sing as their own choir but will often gather with members from the Christ Church Parish Choir and other community choirs to sing.

What is the cost to participate in the CSCA?

There is no cost to participate. All costs are covered by donors to Christ Church Episcopal, fundraisers, and other income sources.

When are rehearsals?

Rehearsal days are Mondays and Wednesdays from 4:00 PM until 7:00 PM at Christ Church Episcopal in downtown Greenville. For more information, contact Sarah Marczynski at smarczynski@ccgsc.org.

How to be a part of this ministry:

Let us know you or your child is interested in CSCA:

Fill out our form (scan the QR code)

Volunteer:

You can serve as a mentor, provide homework help, drop off a snack, or help with some administrative tasks. Email Sarah Marczynski at smarczynski@ccgsc.org for more information or opportunities.

How else can I help?

Recommend a student to join us. Spaces in the first year’s program are limited to 30 choristers and we are currently open for auditions! Potential choristers do not need to participate in their school, church, or other choir or have any musical training; but they should possess a love of music and a commitment to attendance. Contact Donald Duncan at dduncan@ccgsc.org or 864.271.8773 for more information.